

Rental Qualifications

Corporate Policy / Tenant Verification

- You must have acceptable housing payment history. If you do not have rental history, you must have acceptable credit history. Acceptable rental history includes at least one year of timely payments to a management or real estate company. Written proof of on-time payments for 6 consecutive months such as a landlord's ledger, money order stubs, cancelled checks, or bank statements showing on-time payments to a private landlord may also be accepted. Applicants with poor housing payment history, either paid or unpaid balances, must have at least one subsequent year of timely housing payments, verified with written proof (see above). Dates of such acceptable housing payment history may not be prior to the record of poor rental history. These criteria must be met, even if other credit is acceptable.
- You must have acceptable credit history. If you do not have acceptable credit history, you must have acceptable housing payment history. Acceptable credit history must include at least one year of timely payments on an auto, mortgage, or other substantial item or a combination of no less than three less substantial payments. Acceptable credit history means that credit report does not include any delinquent accounts or collection accounts (medical collections and items less than $200 may be waived).
- Deposit requirements are based on overall credit score, payment history, and debt to income ratio.
- You must be at least 19 years of age or older.
- Your gross income must be at least three times the monthly apartment rent. We will also consider Social Security, Social Security SSI and court ordered child support included as part of your gross monthly income.

Applicants with poor credit or rental history cannot be considered for the cosigner option. Cosigners' credit score must be 700 or higher.
